However, in January, his car broke down and he missed his third Spanish class.

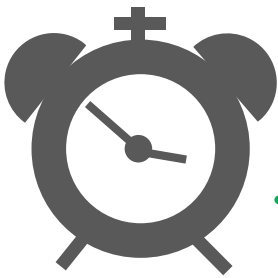

In February, he missed a study session to spend Valentine's Day with his girlfriend Sally.

A month later, he had to pick up an extra shift at work and didn't have time to stop at the Writing Center.

So, he got another D on his Composition Assignment.

Then, he slept through his alarm and missed his Math test.

Plus, Sally broke up with him the week before his Final Exams.

This is Joey
at the End of the Spring Semester

So, he passed only 50% of his Spring classes AND Now has a 1.8 GPA.

Because of this, he may lose his financial aid the following Fall Semester.

Keeping Your Financial Aid Is Important

What are the SAP Requirements?

Earn at least a 2.0 GPA (WKU/Overall)

Earn at least 67% of your Attempted Hours

Probability of retaining your financial aid the following academic semester

GOOD GPA

GOOD PACE

GOOD SAP

What happens if I do not meet SAP Requirements?

You may be placed on SAP Warning for the following academic semester

This means that you must bring your WKU/Overall GPA and Overall Pace up to SAP Requirements within your one semester of SAP Warning

If you do not meet min. SAP requirements within your one SAP Warning semester, you may lose your financial aid

This means that you may have to pay for school out of pocket until you are able to reach SAP requirements

If you think you might have issues with your SAP, talk to a financial aid counselor about your options at fa.help@wku.edu
