As the facilities services coordinator at WKU-Owensboro, Wedding was responsible for all cleaning, maintenance and construction projects on campus.

“I took a lot of pride in how the campus looked in Owensboro and got compliments on it all the time,” he said. “That’s what I want to provide for our customers – that initial wow factor when people walk into their facility. I want to help my customers make a great first impression on their own customers.”

Wedding is launching the business along with his wife Ashley.
