1. Identification of proposed course

- 1.1 Course prefix (subject area) and number: DMT 230
- 1.2 Course title: Bath Design
- 1.3 Abbreviated course title: Bath Design
- 1.4 Credit hours: 3
- 1.5 Schedule type: Applied Learning
- 1.6 Prerequisites: DMT 201
- 1.7 Course description:
This course will introduce students to the specialty of bathroom design. It will encompass the principles and elements of design, universal design and sustainability as well as specific design details that are inherent in bathroom design and planning. Students will add to their base of interior design knowledge through lectures, and studio time that includes; sketching, client presentations, field measures, and field trips to showrooms. The final project will encompass an actual bathroom from planning to presentation for a client.

2. Rationale

- 2.1 Reason for offering this course on a temporary basis: Current students will be taking this course to gain further knowledge in Bath design. This course will be part of the new associates program in Kitchen and Bath Design. The hope is this course will move from temporary to permanent by fall of 2012.
- 2.2 Relationship of the proposed course to courses offered in other academic units: Bath design is touched on in DMT 301 Design Studio III. This course will cover the aspects of Bath design as a full time profession.

3. Description of proposed course

- 3.1 Course content outline
 - Planning, presentation and construction drawings used in bathroom design
