

A Christmas Card "Thank You"

The Kelly Autism Program's first annual signature Christmas card project was very successful. The project gave the young adults in 'the KAP' an opportunity to participate as a team with university students in the WKU art department and other professional organizations, express their individual creativity, and see their work presented to the community as a business enterprise.

Helping these young adults with autism to be involved in the community activities through the university is what we all hoped to see when the Kelly Autism Program was established. It was gratifying to see the staff and young adults 'think of others' this Christmas season with adopting 5 students in their high schools.

We want to thank everyone involved for this exciting project!

Christmas Cards

The Kelly Autism Program's teen council members decided to adopt five students this holiday season. They used some of the money they raised from the KAP Christmas card profits to buy the students items they wanted for Christmas. The staff members, along with Victoria Kelly went shopping for the adolescents in need this holiday season. In addition, the Kelly Autism Program is going to begin an art program for the participants. This program is also being funded from the money raised through the Christmas cards.
